Welcome in Jesus' Name

Lutherans believe that Jesus Christ is present in the Sacrament so that we receive His true body and blood along with the bread and wine (Mark 14:22, 24; 1 Corinthians 10:16). We further believe that in this Sacrament, we receive the forgiveness of sins (Matthew 26:28) and strength to live an improved Christian life (Galatians 2:20). A worthy communicant is one who is truly repentant of his/her sins and who resolves to amend his/her life (1 Corinthians 11:28). Furthermore, this Sacrament is not only a communion with Christ (Matthew 18:20; 1 Corinthians 10:16), but also with one another (1 Corinthians 10:17; Acts 2:42). Those desiring to commune with us for the first time should register with the pastor in his office BEFORE the service begins.

Announcements

Service Notes: November 1 is the day the church has set aside to commemorate "All Saints" - those who have died with faith in Christ and are now with Christ numbered with the saints in heaven. Historically, there are two days. November 1 is for those more 'notable' saints, such as the Apostles and others of greater stature, and November 2 is the day of "All Souls" which includes everyone who has died in the Christian Faith. Over the years, "All Saints" has come to be the commemoration of both. This is especially the case in the Lutheran Church, as all who die with saving faith in Christ are of equal stature with the saints in heaven. This is the Church's memorial day. As you sing All Saints hymns today, and hear readings about the gathering of saints in heaven, picture in your minds those you love who are no longer living in this life, but are in the mansion of heaven. So also do we look to join them someday! Paraments are white, the color of purity, as the saints "have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

BEING COMMEMORATED TODAY are the saints who joined the great host of heaven from Immanuel over this past year. We are ALL SAINTS because of our faith in Christ, and as we give thanks for those who have gone before us, we praise not them nor their goodness, but Christ and His work that their faith relied on for their lives here on earth. Today we remember the following, including the date they were born into God's kingdom in eternity: Marge Morrissey (March 8, 2019); and Kathy Brendel (June 14, 2019). May God continue to bless those surviving these saints now in heaven until we all are reunited in eternity.

As a part of the festival, there will be devotional readings on ten Lutheran hymns from the Lutheran Service Book (LSB) followed by singing each hymn along with special accompaniments. Following the Hymn Festival there will be fellowship and dessert in the Parish Hall. Please come and join in learning more about our Lutheran hymnody in word and song.

Thanks to everyone who attended the Reformation Fest and brought delicious food to share. A special thanks to Bob and Diana Zimmerman, Susan Miller, Pastor McPike, Steve and Susie Martin, Debbie Lammle, Rick Hardesty, and Alicia Haggin for working together to set up, grill the brats and potato pancakes, clean up, and accompany the singing. We appreciate everyone's willingness to help make this event a success!

Could This Be Cancer?

American Cancer Society

Most of the signs and symptoms of cancer that we notice turn out to be something that isn't serious.

For example, a new mole or lump or headache that won't go away is not likely to be cancer, but should be checked out by a doctor just to be sure. That gives you your best chance of getting the problem treated, whether it's a cancer or something else. Treatment usually works better the earlier it's started.

It would be helpful if our bodies gave us a clear message when we had cancer, but cancer is complicated. It's a group of diseases that can cause almost any sign or symptom, depending on where in the body the cancer starts or even where it has spread. What makes it even more complicated is that many other health problems that aren't cancer can cause the same signs and symptoms as cancer does.

Possible signs and symptoms of cancer

If you notice any of these signs and symptoms, get them checked out- especially if they last for a long time or get worse. It's more likely that something isn't cancer causing the problem, but seeing a doctor is the only way to find out.

- Unexplained weight loss: Losing 10 pounds or more without knowing the reason.
- Fatigue: Extreme tiredness that doesn't get better with rest.
- Pain: Especially back pain, or headache that doesn't go away or get better with treatment.
- Skin changes: Any wart, mole, or freckle that changes color, size, or shape, or that loses its sharp border should be seen by a doctor right away. Other skin changes should be reported, too, including darkening, yellowing, reddishness, itching, and excessive hair growth.
- Sores that don't heal: These can be on the skin, in the mouth, or on the genitals
- Change in bowel or bladder function: Long term constipation, diarrhea, a change in the size of the stool, pain when passing urine, blood in the urine, or a change in bladder function (such as needing to go more or less often than usual)
- White patches inside the mouth or white spots on the tongue: Smoking or other tobacco use can cause pre-cancerous areas. If not treated, these patches or spots can become cancer.
- Unusual bleeding or discharge: This can include coughing up blood, blood in the stool(which can look very dark or black stool), abnormal vaginal bleeding, blood in the urine, or a bloody discharge from the nipple.
- Lump: This can be anywhere, but mostly occurs in the breast, testicle, lymph nodes (glands), and the soft tissues of the body. Some breast cancers show up as red or thickened skin rather than a lump.
- Indigestion or trouble swallowing that doesn't go away.
- Naggig cough or hoarseness that doesn't go away.

These signs and symptoms are more common, but they aren't the only indications of cancer. If you notice any major changes in the way your body works or the way you feel-especially if it lasts for a long time or gets worse- let a doctor know.
